

Character Assignment: You will conduct a thorough character analysis of your character using evidence from the text.

Some focus points:

- What do you imagine the character looks like?
- What can you determine by the character's speech?
- What relationships does your character have to other characters?

I will give you more information and direction as the play moves along. For now, just start collecting information.

Character Assignment: You will conduct a thorough character analysis of your character using evidence from the text.

Some focus points:

- What do you imagine the character looks like?
- What can you determine by the character's speech?
- What relationships does your character have to other characters?

I will give you more information and direction as the play moves along. For now, just start collecting information.

