

Visual – For this project, you may work with other students. However, if you choose to work with other students, then you must prove that every person participated. If only one person does the work, then only one person will get the credit.

You will use details from the book to create a visual representation of The Hunger Games. You will also present your project in front of the class and explain what you did and why you did it. I encourage you to think outside the box. How can you bring The Hunger Games to life? (No, you can't shoot the student next to you with a bow and arrow). Think about a part of the book that spoke to you. Think about any special talents that you have. How can you make the two things come together? Can you draw? Can you sew? Have you always wanted an excuse to learn papier mache? Get creative!

The due date for the project is December 14. However, you must inform me of what you will be making by December 7.

Possibilities:

3-D representations of The Hunger Games

- Muttations
- Playing Field
- District 12
- Panem
- *****
- Map book
- Movie
- Book of poems and songs
- Player's Guide
- Food Guide
- Remembrance Book of the 74th Hunger Games
- Other Creative Ideas