

It's time to tweet your favorite Halloween gerund to Mrs. Krieger. You have 2 options.

Option 1: You may tweet Mrs. Krieger @Kewalee by 2 AM on Sunday, October 14.

Option 2: You may construct a faux tweet on regular printer paper and bring it in on Monday, October 15. Please make your printing enormously big because I am going to hang these up. You may get creative if you wish by adding Larry the Bird or some other tweet related decoration.

Rules:

1. You must tweet the gerund type that you drew out of the bucket on Friday. If you were absent, tweet me and I'll tell you which gerund to do.
2. For the non-tweeters, a tweet can only be up to 144 characters so please stay within that limit.
3. Please stay with a Halloween theme. Examples: pumpkins, Jason Vorhees, candy, super scary bats, graveyards, black cats, pretty much anything related to Edgar Allan Poe, icky spiders, and of course, witches. (Witches love gerunds!)
4. This assignment will be graded, so double check for accuracy, spelling, and awesomeness.

