

Be thoroughly prepared for tomorrow's Harkness session. Remember that you are completely responsible for the direction of the conversation.

What questions does the text ask us to consider? What is Orwell implying about power? About humanity? About justice? About privacy?

Find several quotes that you find interesting or troubling. What questions do those quotes put forth? Try to avoid creating a question for which you already have an answer. Shaky territory often brings the most interesting avenues of inquiry.

Possible topics to consider:

Violence

Privacy

Sex

Lying

Loyalty

Love

Manipulation
